Radio and Flying
Child Health Day
One Cubic Inch, One Ton
Round Your Corners

Among farmers' wives until recently the percentage of insanity was very high. Lying isolated lives, working hard from dawn until long after dark, seeing nobody but the sometimes dull, tired husband and farm hands, was bad for the mind.

Then came rural free delivery, bringing pictures of the latest fashions, and the telephone, with news of neighbors, finally, greatest blessing of all, the radio. Farmers' wives tune in, and retain their sanity.

To the exceptional woman, rich, able to do what she pleases, but hitherto finding little amusing excitement after sixty, flying offers relief.

The British duchess of Bedford, sixty-four years old, goes up and down the earth at a rate of speed that old Satan never dreamed of.

She has just started the second leg of a flight from London to South Africa, an able pilot and mechanic keeping her company.

You would say that a flying man or woman could write a book, "Things I Have Seen," that would eclipse Voltaire's "Candide," (Things Seen) for Voltaire crawled around on the earth's surface.

However, not the eyes but the heart and brain do the real seeing.

Gandhi, starved Hindu, whose sincerity causes the British empire more anxiety than all his 800,000,000 fellow Hindus combined, learns, as other enthusiasts have done, that the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak.

Weighting barely 100 pounds, eating no meat, taking no stimulants, a walk of 200 miles, that would seem a joke to an Irishman or a Scotchman, has exhausted him. He cannot go on.

Hodge, Calif.—President Hoover, designating May 1 as "Child Health Day," urges parents and all others to co-operate.

These are some ingredients of child health:

Fresh air and sunlight. They cost nothing.

Regular hours, long and regular sleep. They cost nothing.

Eating slowly, which costs nothing, and develops teeth and jaws, avoiding adenoids and other troubles.

Good, simple food, with variety, from day to day. That costs trouble, principally.

While designating a child health day, the government might think of the mother's health, also, and the disgraceful fact that this nation leads all others, civilized, in the number of mothers that die in childbirth for lack of competent attention.

If a sow is about to have a litter, or a cow a calf, the government stands ready to advise and help through the Agricultural department.

For the expectant human mother there is no such help.

Uranium, heaviest of all metals, is now produced for $400 a pound. Some of it was shown to chemists at Atlanta. The present price is low. Recently the stuff was priceless.

It weighs twice as much as lead, but, comically considered, that is not heavy. Learn from science that the substance of certain stars, because of terrific gravity, and compression, weighs two thousand pounds to the cubic inch. Imagine the outer joint of your thumb weighing a ton.

The sun's radiation, heat and power, are supposed to come from the "stripping of atoms." The electrons, revolving around the nuclei, are stripped off and shot into space. The nuclei, left alone, are packed one against another, with no space separating them from their electrons and from each other. It is as though you stripped away the planets from suns in space and packed the suns solidly together in a lump. That would be heavy.

An electron, in proportion to its size, is as far from its central nucleus as the sun is from the earth.

Each atom is a little solar system, so small you do not notice a million of those systems in the corner of your eye. Our universe is really too complicated, at least for our feeble minds.

Important to city governments, Berlin, which makes city rule a science, not a graft, is gradually rounding off corners on streets with heavy traffic. Big omnibuses can turn rounded corners without pulling out into the street, interfering with other vehicles.

The used airplane problem already causes anxiety. With constant improvement, passenger planes become obsolete while still in safe working order. Expensive machines, they have little second-hand value. The problem is to use, profitably, the flying life remaining in them.

Among others of our great industrialists, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, appropriates millions each year for scientific research. Thanks to this wise and profitable course, followed by the nation's great corporations, Steel, Standard Oil, etc., important discoveries are made in many directions.

SALLING HANSON CO. MILL BEING RAZED

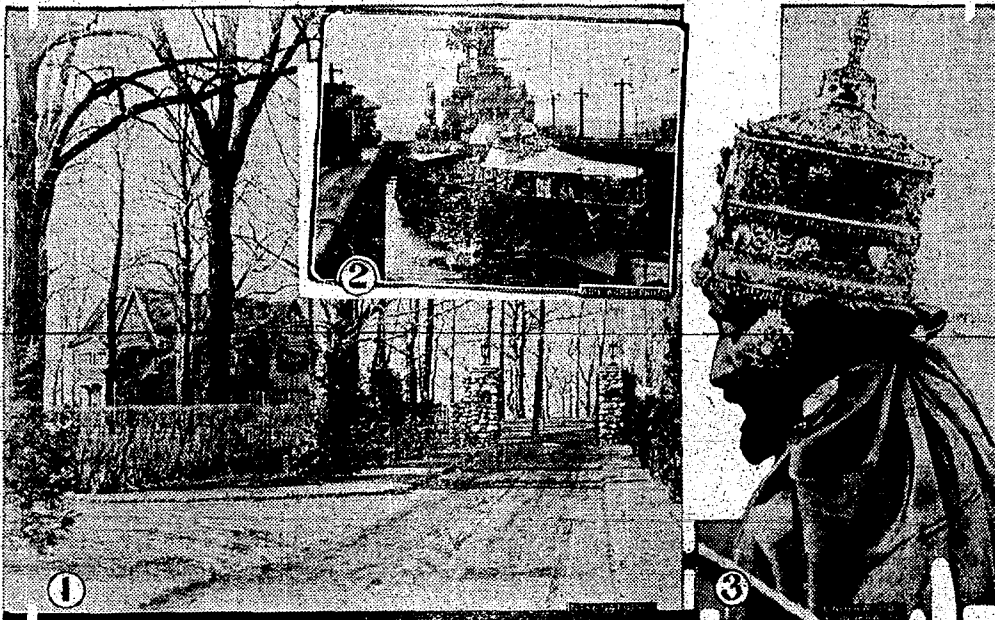

STRUCTURE WAS BUILT IN 1889

Workmen are busy razing the old Salling Hanson mill, one of Grayling's oldest landmarks and at one time one of the largest and most complete lumber mills in Michigan. The mill was sold recently by Salling Hanson Company to the Northern Salvage Company of Grayling who in turn sold the building to Rasmus Rasmussen.

For two years the building stood vacant and the effect was one of deserted inactivity. To a discerning eye, however, there was still value within these four plain walls and it seemed like tempting fate to tear down the structure. The mill stood straight as a die and there was but little weakness in any of its excellent hand-hewn timbers. The joints of the frames were strongly riveted and the smart rap of the hammers produced the welcome ring of stout Norway pine.

There are only a few men in Grayling now who can boast of being among the first to work in the old Salling Hanson Co. mill and it is from these men that we learn of its early history. Town records date it back fifty years but its early history most of us must merely imagine and those who have been employed at the mill can but add their own chapter to the story.

Early History of the Mill
The firm of Salling-Hanson Company was organized on June 4, 1878. The first agreement was entered into by four men, namely M. Engleman of Manistee, Rasmus Hanson and Nels P. Michelson of Grayling and Nels Ernest Salling, Manistee, for a term of five years for the purpose of logging and merchandising on the Manistee river in Kalkaska county. Rasmus Hanson was to be in charge of general management of the company with Nels Michelson superintendent of the camps and Mr. Salling to oversee the sawing and shipping of logs. Mr. Engleman, who was a silent partner in the business, withdrew from the company several years later. The firm began operations at Grayling, putting logs into the Manistee river and selling them to parties at Manistee. In 1878, J. C. Goodale, a Grayling lumberman, wanted to dispose of his holdings and go to Oregon, (and, by the way, Mr. Goodale drove a team of horses all the way to the West). He sold out to Hanson, Salling, and Michelson, who took over the sawmill. The first cut was 3,000 feet. The company years the sawmills were working day and night, making lumber entirely of white cork pine, the softest textured timber of the pine family. Salling-Hanson Company had no use for which is today being razed. In an

Don Jose Mojica Sings in Fox Picture, "Romance of Rio Grande"

"The time will come, and that soon, when the talking motion picture will be the one great medium of dramatic and musical expression."

Don Jose Mojica, internationally famous for his remarkable achievements as tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, voiced the above statement as he stood in the patio of the beautiful hacienda constructed at Fox Movietone City for use in the filming of "Romance of Rio Grande," which is to open at the Rialto Theatre for two days, Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19.

It came as a climax to a series of enthusiastic, warmly Latin, exclamations of delight at sights on the lot, at the resemblance of the "Rio Grande" set to scenes in his own Mexican homeland, and over the fact that he, Mojica, was at last to be a part of this vast workshop of the arts.

"For years I've wanted to be in the movies," Don Jose, who is under contract to Fox, declared. "It seems hard to realize that I'm here at last, ready to start. This gives me as much delight as singing in the great opera houses of America."

"Look at this hacienda! What a thing of artistry it is! How absolutely authentic! One does not need to go to Mexico, for the movies have brought Mexico to the studio—will bring it to the world, and will show the beautiful architecture to all lovers of the beautiful."

It would be impossible to duplicate such a scene on the stage—visually impossible. It is far too big, too real. In fact, it is the very thing itself which is only possible in motion pictures.

"Before the films had a breadth, a scope, that was denied to the theatre and the operatic stage—but they had, alas, no voice."

"Now, through a miracle of science, they have been given that voice—and they become, almost overnight, a tremendously powerful medium for artistic expression, which makes it possible for the tiniest hamlet as well as the mighty metropolis anywhere in the civilized world to enjoy it."

See and hear the "Romance of Rio Grande" at the Rialto Theatre Friday and Saturday.

GREENHOUSES RESPLENDENT FOR EASTER

Flowers! Flowers! After a long cold winter what a sight to walk into the Grayling Greenhouses and find yourself in the midst of riotous bloom and dainty perfumes. Refreshing indeed, and what a pleasure to walk among the flowers there.

On one side you see the stately calla lilies, pure white blossoms of queenly grace and to offset their simplicity are gorgeous primroses. What a delightful contrast! Tulips all, vying with each other for supremacy of color! Here we see the beautiful Easter lilies, their graceful flowers and symmetrical plants; a truly appropriate symbol of the season.

Geraniums, snapdragons, carnations and roses grow profusely. Begonias with their waxy leaves and blossoms, hyacinths in holiday array and sweet perfume, sweetpeas, and pansies—"pansies for thoughts"—we must not forget them with their sweet little faces lifted to tell us "one of nature's secrets!"

Thru all you will find ferns of every description and foliage plants, making a wonderful background for the large array of blossoms and you will be more than repaid for a visit here. You will find just what you want to send to mother and dad for Easter and that shut-in friend also. The Grayling Greenhouses invite you to come and see their wonderful assortment of beautiful flowers, everything a lover of flowers can wish for.

PIANO TUNING

M. A. Morford will be at Grayling about April 20th. Please leave your order with Sorenson & Son for any work you wish done.

SALLING HANSON CO. LUMBER CAMP—TYPICAL OF ITS DAY

early issue of the Avalanche we find the following item which is of interest:

"Salling Hanson Company have decided to build their new mill on the site of the old one and work will begin at once (Jan. 3, 1889). The main structure will be 36x160 feet, the boiler house 56x60 feet and a wing 20x40 feet for lath and shingle machinery. Every adjunct of the mill will be the latest improvement and the capacity fully double that of the old."

In the same issue of the Avalanche appeared this item, also interesting, which will give us an idea of the lumber cut before 1889:

"Salling Hanson Co. shut down their mill for the year last Saturday night after a prosperous season. They had cut over 18,000,000 feet of lumber, manufactured 1,800,000 lath, 1,600,000 cedar shingles and 1,700,500 pine shingles at this place and have had over 3,000,000 feet of lumber cut at Otsego Lake. Besides this they have put 2,000,000 feet into the AuSable and 2,000,000 into the Manistee rivers."

At this time Mr. Michelson had a three-sevenths interest in the company and Mr. Hanson and Mr. Salling each owned seven-sevenths. Mr. Salling passed away a few years after the new mill was built, and in later years, on account of ill health Mr. Michelson urged Mr. Hanson to incorporate the company and give him the controlling interest. The name of Salling Hanson Company remained the same.

Early Employees

Charles Tromble has furnished us with a list of the early employees of the late mill during its first year: Engineer—George Dyer. Sawyers—Charles Tromble and Joe White. Filer and Foreman—John K. Hanson.

Carriage—Archie Montour. Carriage Setter—Lars Nelson. Lath Mill—Thomas Ingley. Lumber Inspector—Peter Rasmussen.

We understand that Joe Jones, formerly of Grayling, was the first sawyer of the earlier Salling Hanson Company mill; also that Lars Nelson, the late J. K. Hanson and Peter Rasmussen were among the early ed them in a firepit, as the greater part of the county was originally covered with a heavy growth of timber, which the residents used as firewood. When all the cork pine had been sawed into timber, the lumbermen turned their attention to other woods; such as Nor-

FAST TIME CARRIES BY BIG MAJORITY

CHANGE CLOCK HOUR AHEAD APRIL 26

In a test vote to get the expressions of the people of Grayling as to which time they prefer, day-light saving time the year around carried by an overwhelming majority.

Ballots were placed in each of the local drug stores and in the store of Olaf Sorenson & Son. Three options were offered as follows:

For daylight-saving time from April 1st to October 1st; for daylight-saving time for the entire year; and for central standard time (slow time) the entire year. The ballots were put out last week Thursday and taken up Wednesday, and following is the result:

The total number of votes cast was 565. Of these 23 were thrown out because of their coming from children or their appearance of jokers.

For daylight-saving from April 1st to October 1st..... 71

For daylight-saving the entire year..... 389

For slow time the entire year..... 101

Of the 23 ballots thrown out, 18 were for fast time the year around.

According to the result of the test vote it is plainly evident that the people are ready to join the many other cities of the state by adopting Eastern Standard time the year around.

Change Time Sat. Night, April 26th. The council met Wednesday afternoon to canvass the votes and, after learning the results, it announced that beginning Sunday morning, April 27th, the official time in Grayling the year around would be Eastern Standard (daylight-saving) time. Clocks should be set ahead one hour on Saturday night, April 26th, and after that forget it.

CARD OF THANKS

We graciously thank the public for their loyalty in standing by the Mercy Hospital at the election of April 7th, at which time the voters of Crawford county voted an appropriation of $100,000 annually to help in the support of this institution. This much needed help is sincerely appreciated.

Signed,

THE SISTERS OF MERCY.

SENIOR PLAY APRIL 25TH

LARGE CAST TO PRESENT "THE TOUCH-DOWN"

The annual Senior play will be presented in the High School auditorium, a week from Friday evening, April 25th. The title of the play, "The Touch-Down" suggests an interesting drama of college life, an exciting football game, with a strain of deeper interest running through the entire plot, that is sure to satisfy the most exacting audience.

Grant Hayden, a junior at Gridell College, a star football player, and a clever young amateur sculptor, is working hard to win the prize offered by an Arizona National Park, for the best work of art produced to grace the Western Gate of the Park. In working so hard, Grant goes against the wish of the faculty and those of his younger brother, Bob. However, Grant has a secret purpose in mind and continues his work on "The Hunter" as he has named his mighty work. When the best man on the Gridell eleven is unable to play, Grant refuses to take his place, because he believes he cannot neglect the work he has set out to do. Thus he incurs the anger of his brother, Bob. Nevertheless, when the time comes and Gridell needs his help to prevent its falling down in a fight with Hinsdale, the greatest rival, Grant fits the place and helps Gridell to win. And "The Hunter"—but come and see what happens after that. You will enjoy the humor of Junius Brooks of the twins, Dolle and Echo, and the loyalty of Watasse, the Indian girl who proves such a friend of Grant's in his time of need. Be sure to see it.

ALL MICH. BOOKLET
OUT APRIL 10TH

In the 'All-Michigan' booklet, 100,000 of which will soon be issued for distribution by the four tourist associations of the state, and the first copies of which are just off the press, East Michigan has a very generous share of the publicity both in photographs and reading matter.

The thirty-two inside pages of this book of the vacation attractions of Michigan, are printed on beautiful magazine stock, and the outside covers, both front and back, are gorgeous with a map of the state printed in four colors. The map is notable for East Michigan in that its sled of tobogganers is very evidently on the Grayling slide, the only dock represented in as Tawas Bay, and the Hartwick pines loom up very conspicuously in the northern part of this territory.

E.M.T.A. Photographs Gain Prominence

The entire brochure is profusely illustrated on every page, and East Michigan is very fortunate in having had so many very clear photographs taken in recent years by T. F. Marston, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, that a remarkably large percentage of the illustrations of the All-Michigan booklet are actually those taken by Mr. Marston. For example, on the double-spread entitled "Picturesque Preservations and Michigan State Parks," of the twelve illustrations used, eight were taken by this Bay City camera enthusiast, and two more are also of East Michigan scenes though they were taken by another photographer.

Among the State Park and Forest pictures on this double-spread are scenes from Fletcher State Park, East Tawas State Park, Hooft State Park, Wilson State Park on Budd Lake at Harrison, Harrisville State Park, Helmer Lake at Huron National Forest, the Norway Pines of Huron National Forest and Mackinac Island. The East Tawas State Park comes in for considerable prominence since the sign erected at the entrance through the instigation of H. N. Butler of that place shows plainly in the photograph.

On the page devoted to "Inns, Hotels, Lodges" East Michigan is represented by the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and Johnson's Rustic Tavern at Prudenville on Houghton Lake.

On the page of "Winter Sports and Games," two of the six pictures are of tobogganing at Grayling. "East Michigan Highlights Listed," the list, compiled by the Magazine of Michigan in cooperation with the Michigan Historical Commission, and the various tourist associations, contains the following from East Michigan: Ama College, Alma, U.S. 27; Arch Rock, Mackinac Island; Army Air Field, north of Oscoda, U.S. 23; John Jacob Astor House, old fur-trading post, Mackinac Island; Broken Rocks, at the tip of the Thumb, near M-29; Capitol, Lansing, U.S. 16; birthplace of Will Carleton, Hudson, M-34; Central State Teachers College, Mt. Pleasant, U.S. 27; Coal Mines, between Saginaw and Bay City, U.S. 23; East-Michigan Tourist-Association Log Office, Bay City, U.S. 23; Hanson Military Reservation, 18,000 acres on Lake Margrethe, accessible from U.S. 27 at Grayling; Hartwick Pines Park, Grayling, U.S. 27; Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, M-34; Fort Holmes, Mackinac Island; Huron National Forest, 616,000 acres in Northern Eastern Michigan, accessible from U.S. 23; Indian Spirit Cemetery, St. Louis, M-46 near U.S. 27; Indian Treaty signed by General Cass, 1819, near Saginaw, U.S. 10; Kiwanis Forest, near East Tawas, U.S. 23; Limestone Quarries, near Rogers City and Alpena, U.S. 23; Fort Mackinac, Mackinac Island; remains of Fort Michilimackinac, Mackinaw City, U.S. 31; Michigan State College, East Lansing, U.S. 16; site of the founding of the Republican Party, Jackson, U.S. 12; Sacred Rock, Indian Shrine on Lake Huron-Shore, south of Rogers City, U.S. 23; Sawdust Pile, largest in the world, Cheboygan, U.S. 23; State Trout Hatchery, Waukegan, U.S. 27; Straits of Mackinac, connecting Lakes Michigan and Huron and separating Upper and Lower Peninsulas; Tawas Point, "the Cape Cod" of Michigan, near U.S. 23; town destroyed by forest fire, U.S. 23.

It is not easy to learn to keep a household account book all at once. A young husband gave his wife a neat little account book prettily bound and designed to be inviting in appearance. He also gave her fifty dollars and said: "I want you to put it down on this side and on the other side write down the way it goes, and in two weeks I will give you another supply." Two weeks later he asked for the book. "Oh, I have kept that account," said the young matron, "here it is." And on one page was inscribed: "Received from Fred fifty dollars," and on the opposite was the summary, "Spent it all."

NEWS & COMMENTS
FROM WASHINGTON

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff, Tenth Michigan District.)

Contrary to the expectations of the majority of the members of Congress, the Conference on the Tariff Bill are making rapid headway with the 1250 items on which the House of Representatives and the Senate differed, with the result that the Conference Committee will finish its work far ahead of the schedule it was believed would be followed when the Committee first began its work. The agricultural schedule has been agreed upon and in almost every instance the higher Senate rates prevail. The tariff on beans will be $3.00 per hundred pounds, and this will be of special interest to Michigan farmers.

It is true that some of the most important items in the measure will have to come back to both Houses of Congress for final action. These will be the subject of much political oratorical fireworks, but it is now believed there will be likelihood of any deadlock that will prevent the final report of the Conference from being adopted by both Houses of Congress.

The outstanding event of the week in politics is, of course, the victory of Mrs. Ruth McCormick over Senator Deneen for the Republican nomination in Illinois. Much surprise was caused in Capital political circles by Mrs. McCormick's clean-cut victory. Senator Deneen is known as a shrewd political general. He made a hard fight. He used every political strategy he had at his command, and he was decisively beaten.

Speculation is rife here now as to how the famous and debonair J. Hamilton Lewis will run in the contest against his woman opponent. The general sentiment among students of the situation, however, seems to be that the lady will beat J. "Ham," which will be a bitter pill for the Illinois political Beau Brummel of the Chesterfield manners, white spats and pink whiskers to swallow. That the battle will be a hot one is of course to be expected, but it will be free from personalities, "political mudslinging" and the usual nastiness which men sometimes inject into their campaigns. Mrs. McCormick is far too clever to indulge in that sort of thing, and nobody would dream for a moment that J. Hamilton Lewis would say a word against a member of the fair sex, even though he might beat her by doing so. All of which leaves the famous J. "Ham" at a decided disadvantage, because when it comes to calling political opponents all the mean names in the category, Lewis is a past master. He can inject more innuendo and innuendo into his political utterances than the average man. So the results of this historic and epochal battle will be watched with intense interest.

The great census of 1930 is under way with all kinds of results. Enumerators have been regarded as robbers, doors are slammed in their faces, some have been bitten by dogs, others insulted by persons who believed the enumerator was prying into intimate family secrets. Many of the enumerators have been severely rebuked by women who feel it is entirely and distinctly none of Uncle Sam's business how old they are. In some cases, particularly those of foreigners, it is reported that one case in point was a foreign family that notified the police Blackhanders were seeking information about the family and had to be assured by the presence of a policeman that the canvasser was all right. In another instance a family of five or six children, motherless and fatherless was found living in Washington and being cared for by the eldest brother, a lad of 19 years. In still another case reported a woman was found whose maiden name was Tinn and she had married a man named Cann. How this wedding escaped the paragraphs of the press is a mystery.

In another instance the proud father of a new-born heir resented the insistence of an enumerator that the baby's name be given, because the baby hadn't been named yet, the father insisting that the census simply would have to be held up until the relatives had agreed on a suitable name. He wanted to fight the enumerator because the latter entered the child on the record as "Baby" and wouldn't promise to come back in a week or two in order to get the right name for the baby. A volume of the intimate experiences of Uncle Sam's census takers would make the most interesting reading in the world. Comedy, pathos, situation ridiculous or tragic are uncovered day after day in this great effort to find out how many people are living in this great country, who they are, and what they do.

The doctrine of highly selective immigration to guard against a continued unemployment problem in the United States was enunciated at Boston by Commissioner General of Immigration Harry E. Hull in a speech April 8 at Boston before the Women's Republican Club of that city.

"If we are to safeguard the soundness of our institutions and the welfare of our working classes," he said, "we must close all of our doors, placing the countries of our own continent on the same basis as all other foreign countries."

Commissioner Hull went further in his talk and said he would favor barring all aliens until all of our own people have found work.

Special Easter services will be held at Michelson Memorial church Sunday morning. The subject of discourse will be "The Christ in Our Midst." In the evening there will be an Easter drama and a short message on "The Deathlessness of Jesus."

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schultz of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trudo of Midland and Emerson Brown of Ann Arbor visited Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Brown Saturday and Sunday. Emerson, who attends school at U. of M., remained to spend the week at his home.

About one hundred from Grayling attended a dance at the new building of the United States War Veterans at Higgins Lake Saturday night. Music was furnished by Clark's orchestra. It was an ideal night to go to a dance and all report fine music and a good time. Mrs. A. L. Wetzel of Dayton, Ohio, was in Grayling over the week end looking over their cottage at McIntyre's Landing on Lake Margrethe. They plan to return to Grayling later in the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hum of Detroit accompanied them to Grayling.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jorgenson and daughter Laura and Carl Nelson and children visited in Standish and Bay City Sunday. Carl Henry, Jr. remained at the home of Clarence Brown in Bay City for a few days to visit his father, who had been doing some work at the Bay City fish hatchery. They returned Tuesday.

Dr. R. B. Howard, director of the Consolidated District Health department has received an appointment from the federal government of assistant collaborating epidemiologist. As such he will be assistant to the sergeant general of the U. S. Health Service, in gathering of data relative to health and nuisance conditions.

Trucks have been busy of late hauling away accumulations of ashes and rubbish in the yards of the spring and time to clean up. Let's make Grayling cleaner and better than ever before. Set a good example for your neighbors; the clean-up spirit is contagious and if everyone will do his part the old town will soon be an example for cleanliness.

Mrs. Lawrence Malloy (Anna Lamont) and two children of Detroit are visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lamont. Mrs. Malloy, who is a trained nurse, is taking care of her father who has been seriously ill at his home. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lamont and family, also of Detroit, were home the latter part of the week owing to his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. August E. Engle and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stephan, both keepers of clubhouses on the Ausable river, had the grand honor of uniting and partaking of the sacrament at the Lord's Table among 12,000 saints on April 6 at Independence, Mo. They are spending three weeks at the centennial church conference of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Twelve little girls surprised Virginia Scott Saturday afternoon, with an Easter party. The dining room was decorated in Easter fashion, each plate being guarded by a big bunny rabbit. After a few games an Easter dinner was served.

Ernest O'Brien, payroll master at the Asphalt plant, motored to Leslie Saturday. He was accompanied on his return Monday by Mrs. O'Brien, who had been visiting relatives in Leslie and the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry Wilcox of the same city, who will be their guest for a few weeks.

Mrs. P. L. Brown entertained her card club Saturday evening. For the two tables of "500" played, prizes were given for the highest and lowest score. Lunch was served at an attractively appointed table carried out in Easter colors, the centerpiece being a large bouquet of pink sweetpeas flanked by tall blue tapers.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Andrew Brown was called to Columbiaville by the critical illness of her father, Isaac Lamber and word received by relatives here brought the message of his death. The deceased had been ill for three weeks. Mrs. Brown remained in Columbiaville until after the funeral and returned to Grayling Friday.

Mrs. George Miller, who has been slowly recovering from injuries received in an auto accident early last summer, left Sunday to consult specialists in Ann Arbor. She was accompanied by her son, George, Jr. It has been several months now since Mrs. Miller has consulted doctors and we hope to hear good news on her return.

Miss Margrethe Bauman was hostess to her Bridge club at a very enjoyable luncheon at Shoppingtons Inn Saturday afternoon. The ladies found their places at a long table which gave out an atmosphere of spring with a centerpiece of pink snapdragons and blue larkspur. The afternoon spent at Miss Bauman's home was equally as delightful.

Alexander was the high lady for the bridge. Mrs. Harold McNeven was a guest at the luncheon.

Late last Thursday afternoon the fire department was called to the home of Henry Jordan on Spruce St. to extinguish a blaze caused from a grass fire. How the fire was started no one seems to know, but it was soon noticed that the Jordan home was in danger. When the department arrived the fire had already gained headway and some damage was done to the foundation and underneath one portion of the house. It was quickly extinguished. Insurance covered the loss.

A contemporary says that it should be remembered that the newspaper is for everybody and hence must publish something for everybody. If you see something which is of little interest to you, remember "there are others" and that the entire paper is not printed especially for you. The very thing that is dull and uninteresting to you may be the best thing in the paper for some other reader, and other readers have just as much right to be pleased as you have. There are whole pages in the paper that are of no interest to us, but they are to others. A paper which contained but such matter as would interest any particular one of us would have a very limited number of readers. There are many people of many minds and the paper must have something for each.

SUPERVISORS STARTED MEETING WEDNESDAY
 The County Board of Supervisors began their April session at the Court house Wednesday. Two new names appear on the roster this year—Arthur Skingley succeeds George Anis for Beaver Creek township and Sydney A. Dyer succeeds Oliver B. Scott for South Branch.

Mr. Dyer is somewhat a stranger to Grayling people. Skingley has been coming to Grayling ever since he was a small lad and is very well known. He is a son of Mrs. John Skingley. He has served at township clerk of his township several years and is quite familiar with its affairs. The other members of the board are Frank A. Barnett, Grayling; Albert Lewis, Frederic; Rufus Edmonds, Maple Forest and J. E. Kellogg, Lovells.

The Board was duly organized for the year Wednesday afternoon and elected Rufus Edmonds of Maple Forest, elected chairman. The following committees were appointed:

Committees
 Ways and Means—Chairman Barnett, Kellogg, Dyer.
 Claims and Accounts—Chairman Dyer, Lewis, Kellogg.
 Finance and Settlement—Chairman Lewis, Skingley, Kellogg.
 Reorganization—Chairman Kellogg, Dyer, Barnett.
 Apportionment—Chairman Skingley, Barnett, Dyer.
 County Buildings—Chairman Dyer, Lewis, Skingley.
 Roads and Bridges—Chairman Kellogg, Barnett, Skingley.
 County Poor—Chairman Barnett, Skingley, Lewis.
 County Printing—Chairman Skingley, Barnett, Lewis.
 Rules—Chairman Lewis, Kellogg, Dyer.

COMMITTEES PICKED FOR WATER CARNIVAL

Eastern Michigan's second annual water carnival will have new interests for all the towns and communities this year as a result of a meeting of district chairmen in Bay City last week. The territory will be divided into nine districts at least, possibly more, each district to have its own chairman, committee and sub-committee with a chairman also in each town in the district.

Not only will this organization handle the contests for queens in each town but they will be in charge of all carnival activities in their territory, arrangements for floats, entries for swimming and motorboat and yachting races, and plans for water sports, bands, etc.

W. A. Crandell, West Branch publisher, T. W. Hanson, prominent Grayling lumberman, and W. R. Cressy, publisher, and Frank Thompson, businessman of Midland, were present and took active part in the discussion.

The 1930 plan met an enthusiastic reception at the meeting in Bay City. Under it, each chairman will work out his own form of organization and the committee in each district will have free rein to develop their own ideas.

Carnival dates of July 31 and August 1 and 2 were approved.

Girls in every town in Eastern Michigan will have an opportunity to compete in their district contests and in the contest at Bay City for the title of "Miss Eastern Michigan." Next March, "Miss Eastern Michigan" will get a trip to Florida to represent her section in the beauty pageant at the great winter resort. It will be the first time that a winter vacation trip will be the prize for a Michigan event.

Nine towns were chosen as district headquarters, and to each of these will come girls contesting for the titles of queen of their respective homes.

The chairman named for each district were as follows: Gaylord, Frank Rockwell; Midland, Frank Thompson and W. R. Cressy; Grayling, T. W. Hanson; West Branch, W. A. Crandell; Standish, not yet announced; Alpena, George Brooker; Bay City, Lyle Clift; Bad Axe, Paul Woodworth; East Tawas, R. G. Schreck.

By the new method, there will be opportunity for each district to have a festive day as well as Bay City. Its intent according to the backers of the carnival is to know the influence of the carnival over the entire eastern half of the state and extend the value and interest of the program.

The districts which have been selected include almost all of the towns in Eastern Michigan, and probably will be added to as time goes on. The headquarters city of each district and the towns in the divisions are:

Gaylord: Waters, Johannesburg, Wolverine, Indian River, Elmira, Vandeventer, Cheboygan, Mackinac City, Mackinac Island.

Midland: Merrill Hemlock, Freeport, Clare, Gladwin, Auburn, Mt. Pleasant, St. Louis, Coleman, Sanford, Fisherville.

Grayling: Lovells, Lewiston, Frederic, Roscommon.

West Branch: Houghton Lake, Prescott, Prudenville, Alger, Mio, Luzerne, Rose City, St. Helen.

Standish: Omer Sterling, Au Gres, Bentley, Pinconning, Twining, Turner, Linwood.

Alpena: Rogers City, Onaway, Harrisville, Lincoln.

Bay City: Essexville, Munger, Reese.

Bad Axe: All towns in the thumb. East Tawas: Tawas City, Oscoda, Hale, Alabaster, Whitmore, National City.

New Truck For Bay City Post Office?

Whether the Bay City Post Office is going to have to put on a new truck before the season is over to take care of the East Michigan vacation literature is a question. But, anyway, the fact remains that one of the post office trucks stops daily now to cart away the East Michigan Tourist Guides and Directories, the maps and letters in answer to inquiries, from the front porch of the Log Office. This means that freight received by the ton goes out by mail to prospective vacationers who have been anxious enough, even this early in the season about getting their vacation plans perfected, to write for descriptive information. Some energetic end-to-enders ought to figure out how many times around the Lake Huron shoreline the postage for this mail would reach if placed in the aforementioned position.

Greyhound Lines To Use Hoover's Article On Fish

In the "Motor Bus Traveler" soon will appear the article on fish, "Friends of Tired Man," written by Herbert Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce, and which was printed in East Michigan's VACATIONLAND magazine three years ago. For a wire from W. R. Fowler, Jr., of the Greyhound Lines came into this office this week asking our permission to reprint this very interesting dissertation on fishing and its value as a recreation for busy men. And May 1st approaches!

Coming Of Tourist Means More Insurance Business

More proof that the hot-dog-stand is not the only business that profits by the tourist processions, comes to us all the time. Now it's in the form of a letter from Frank B. Emery of the Michigan Mutual Liability Co., sent along with the appropriation of that company toward the work of the East Michigan Tourist Association. "There are today," writes Mr. Emery, "in this state, eleven counties that could not maintain a county form of government if the resort business for which these counties are located, this company has officials charged with the building up of the company's clientele, and this can only be accomplished when the purchasing power of these counties has been increased by the money which comes in from outside money, Grayling."

their geographical boundaries."

"Say It With Flowers" Can Teach Us How

It would be difficult to find any town or village in the United States that doesn't know the significance of the phrase "Say it with flowers." And in every section of the country, the sale of flowers has been remarkably stimulated by that same slogan. One of the finest examples of co-operative advertising!! For, as Marie Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, points out in a recent radio talk, "This is not the message of your local florist; rather it is the message of three thousand florists who have banded themselves together to sell more flowers to the American people." In the same manner, co-operative advertising has given great impetus to the sale of paint by making "save the surface and you save all," a slogan known in every state in the union, simply by advertising in national magazines and metropolitan newspapers. "Send it to the laundry," and "Jewelry is the lasting gift," have done the same thing in their own fields. The same can be true of localities that desire more tourist trade during certain seasons of the year. Individual communities are not financially able to make their names and attractions known in every state. But, banded together in the advertising program of the East Michigan Tourist Association, the battle cry "Vacation in East Michigan," can become a stimulation to the flood of visitors that mean so much to our prosperity. It takes money to make East Michigan synonymous with the very idea of summer vacation. But it can be done!

Northeastern Michigan Central Committee

Mr. Fred Swanson of Cheboygan, chairman of the recently organized Central Committee of Northeastern Michigan, has issued a call for a general meeting of representatives from the Northeastern Michigan counties to meet at Bay City, April 24. The call states, "We solicitations of funds, but it is expected to formulate plans for an organization that will go to work to cut off. In the territory in which these counties are located, this company has officials charged with the building up of the company's clientele, and this can only be accomplished when the purchasing power of these counties has been increased by the money which comes in from outside money, Grayling."

OIL AND GAS SITUATION IN MICHIGAN

(This review of the Oil and Natural Gas situation in Michigan was made by the Michigan Public Utilities Information Bureau, Arthur W. Stace, Director, Ann Arbor, Michigan. It covers major developments up to April 1, 1930.)

Since the last previous review of the oil and natural gas situation in Michigan was issued by the Michigan Public Utilities Information Bureau on July 1, 1929, important developments have taken place, the most significant coming within recent weeks.

The Mt. Pleasant-Midland oil field along the border line of Isabella and Midland counties has steadily gained in activity and in production.

The Muskegon field has declined in activity and in production.

Find of oil ten miles north of Mt. Pleasant indicate a separate field in that vicinity.

Dry gas strikes west of Mt. Pleasant and northwest of Clare have caused speculation and surmise as to natural gas possibilities in the Central Michigan area.

The following summary is supplementary to that issued on July 1, 1929, and presents conditions as they were on April 1, 1930. These conditions are liable to change at any time as new wells are completed.

OIL

Predictions made that the Mt. Pleasant-Midland oil field might prove the most important and most profitable developed to date in Michigan are being verified.

On March 1st, production in the Mt. Pleasant-Midland oil field had been running for some time between 7,000 and 9,000 barrels a day. This compared to a daily production of around 6,000 barrels in the Muskegon field during the same period.

Production of oil had been steadily increasing in the Mt. Pleasant-Midland field up to March 1st with the completion of new wells in the proved territory. A number of wells were being drilled and there was promise of greatly enlarged production in the near future.

About March 1st, however, the Pure Oil Company, which owns about 75% of the production and 85% of the proved acreage in the Mt. Pleasant-Midland field, announced a temporary curtailment of activities. Other operators joined in this curtailment.

The object was to hold back the crude oil in the field until market conditions should improve. Oil production in general has been so great during the past year that the price for Mt. Pleasant-Midland oil has dropped in several stages from $1.70 per barrel, which was paid last July, to $1.25 per barrel, which was paid in March.

As a result of this decision to curtail activities, work was suspended upon wells being drilled except those intended for offsets, and the Pure Oil Company, instead of sending the full production from the field immediately to market through its pipe line to Mt. Pleasant, began to store in large quantities at its tank farm in Midland county. There were four 65,000 barrel tanks at the oil storage tank farm on April 1st, and the building of more tanks was in prospect.

Field Is Well Organized
This curtailment of activities at a time when crude oil prices were low with a view of saving the oil until it could be sold at a better price was in keeping with the business-like way in which the Mt. Pleasant-Midland field has been developed.

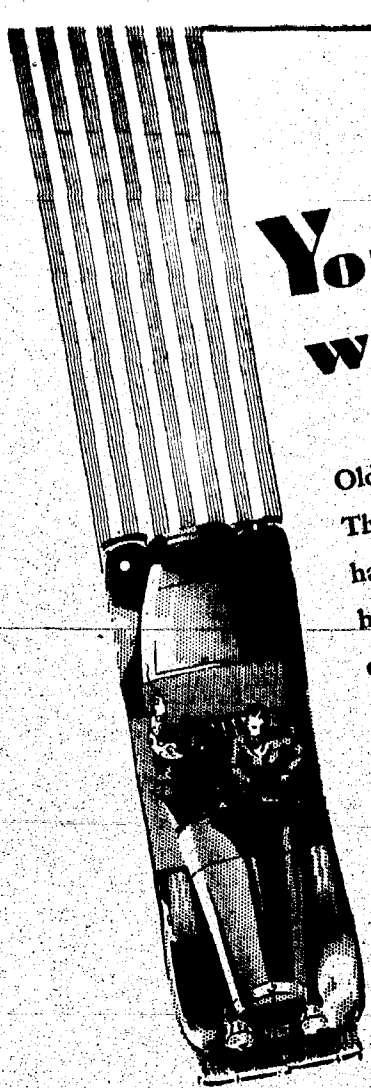

This development has been much better organized than the developments at Saginaw and Muskegon. It has been conducted for the most part by experienced oil men, and amateur speculators have been in the minority.

The big operator is the Pure Oil Company, a property of the Daves interests of Chicago.

Instead of wells being sunk close together in hit or miss fashion on town lots as at Saginaw, or on acre plats as at Muskegon, they have been located according to good oil practice, one well to each ten acres. They string across the landscape in rows as regularly placed as the towers of an electric power transmission line.

The proved field is located in Chippewa township of Isabella county and Greendale township of Midland county. These two townships adjoin. Wells have been sunk in Vernon, Denver and Isabella townships to the north and northeast of Chippewa township, Isabella county, and oil has been found in these townships.

Makes Good Lubricating Oil

does not, in its natural and unmineralized state, however, yield good anti-knock gasoline. This gives the oil a more limited market at the present time than is enjoyed by crude oils yielding gasoline in larger quantities.

The condition of the lubricating oil market was probably responsible for the successive drops in the price of the Mt. Pleasant-Midland field crude oil from $1.70 per barrel in the summer and fall of 1929, to $1.50 per barrel in November, and then to $1.25 per barrel, the price prevailing in March.

The Mt. Pleasant-Midland proved field is about six miles east of Mt. Pleasant and about twenty miles west of Midland. It is irregular in shape, running from southeast to northwest through Sections 17, 18 and 7 of Greendale township, Midland county, and Sections 12, 11, 1 and 2 of Chippewa township, Isabella county. It is several miles long and about two miles wide. It lies on both sides of the Chippewa river and of State Highway M-20.

The principal supply of oil in the Mt. Pleasant-Midland field comes from the Dundee sands, which here are struck at about 3,500 feet. Some oil has been found in the Traverse sands, which are above the Dundee formation, and even in the Marshall sands, which are above the Traverse sands.

One deep test well has been drilled by the Pure Oil Company in Section 12, Chippewa county. This struck oil in the lower Monroe sands at 4,275 feet. At 4,350 feet water was found with the oil. The finding of oil below the Dundee sands is regarded as a hopeful sign by oil men, indicating additional stores in the deeper sands. Deep drilling at Muskegon revealed no additional stores there.

The Mt. Pleasant-Midland field is primarily an oil field with enough gas to flow some of the wells. About half the wells are on pumps. A considerable supply of casing head gas is said to be recoverable should later conditions warrant the investment required to exploit it.

On April 1st, 114 wells were producing and 26 were drilling or had suspended drilling. Drilling operations were stopped on all but a few of the 26 after the decision to curtail operations until the price of oil mounted to a higher level.

Oil and Gas Area Appears Large
The finding of oil and natural gas at widely separated points in the Mt. Pleasant area indicates the possibility of more extensive underground resources than were found at Muskegon.

The Muskegon field is confined to two adjoining townships, Muskegon and Laketon. It is about four miles long and varies in width from half a mile to a mile. Both the oil and gas sands were made in this small territory.

The proved oil field at Mt. Pleasant is already larger in area than the Muskegon field and its limits have not yet been determined by dry wells. Moreover, wildcat wells outside the proved fields have struck oil. The gas wells in the Mt. Pleasant area are miles apart from the proved oil field. The amounts of natural gas that had been found up to April 1 were not large enough to warrant commercial development through the construction of pipe lines to Mt. Pleasant and Clare, the nearest available markets.

Oil In Muskegon Field

The Muskegon field on April 1 was producing around 6,000 to 7,000 barrels of crude oil a day. The bulk of this was being made into gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, and distillates in three refineries at Muskegon, and the remainder was being shipped to Standard Oil Company refineries at Milwaukee, Michigan, and Whiting, Indiana.

The Saginaw field continues to produce about 250 barrels of oil a day. Other Explorations In Michigan
Wildcat wells drilled here and there throughout the Lower Peninsula have made showings of oil or natural gas, but not in sufficient quantities as to cause the oil men to flock to them.

Early in March, oil was struck in Dundee township, Monroe county, several miles northwest of Petersburg. The well, which proved to be a 15-barrel "pumper," is about two miles north of two other wells which are being pumped to produce a small yield of good quality oil. A fourth well in the same vicinity also produced a small quantity of oil.

Exploratory wells have been sunk in many parts of the Lower Peninsula. A number of these, including two near Shepherd, south of Mt. Pleasant, have been abandoned as "dry."

The cost of drilling a well in the Muskegon area was around $10,000 to $15,000. In the Mt. Pleasant area, because of the dip of the rock formations and the greater depth of the oil producing sands below the surface, the average cost is around $25,000.

In selecting a trouser pattern for a small boy, see that the back seam line is longer than the front, gradually slanting from the top to the crotch. A center front line should drop straight down and then curve out to the crotch as does an armseye line that leads to an undersarm seam.

Natural material for bird homes are not so abundant as formerly, and substitutes will be welcomed by the feathered tenants. Many birds will make use of rags, ravelings, and twine if these are cut into small pieces. Excelsior, straw, hay, cotton, hair (such as is used in plastering), and feathers are welcome. An ordinary wire broiler is excellent for holding the nest-making materials. Robins, phoebe, and swallows are eager to get thoroughly wet clay for nest building.

The surest way to keep a house free from ants is to leave no food lying about on shelves or in open places where they can reach it. Ants go where they can find food and are especially attracted by cake, bread, sugar, and meat.

The length of time required to roast a leg of lamb depends chiefly on the size of the leg and the temperature of the oven. Most people prefer lamb from medium to well done, and if a roast meat thermometer is inserted in the meat, uniform results will be obtained at every cooking. The thermometer should register 175 degrees F. for medium and 182 degrees F. for well-done meat. Place the leg of lamb skin-side down and cut flesh-side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Sear for 30 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) to develop flavor, and then reduce the oven temperature rapidly to 300 degrees F. and continue the cooking at this temperature to the required degree of doneness.

of Pontiac's finer

BEGINNING today, the New Series Pontiac Big Six marked with a RED ROCKET will be on the streets of this city. Notice its speed, quick getaway, smoothness and easy handling. Ask for a demonstration—anytime, anywhere you see this car.

SPEED AND POWER. A 60 horsepower engine, the largest in any six of Pontiac's price, accounts for this car's great power, speed and acceleration.

A FAMOUS NAME
A FINER CAR

SMOOTHNESS. The engine is very smooth due to new type rubber mountings and the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts crankshaft vibration.

EASY HANDLING AND RIDING. A new roller bearing steering system and improved four-wheel brakes make the car delightfully easy to handle. And riding ease is increased by comfortable new Fisher bodies and improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers.

Ask to drive the car with the RED ROCKET. Or come to our salesroom and arrange to learn what splendid performance Pontiac now is offering at low cost.

Prices are for a Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Budget and credit plans available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Farm Notes

It is well to stanchion heifers with the milking hard for two or three months before calving. If they are brushed gently and handled every day they will become accustomed to the attendant and will be easier to milk.

Calves to be fattened for beef should not be allowed to lose the fat they have gotten from milk feeding. Quality and finish are very desirable in fat yearlings. Half-finished yearlings do not usually bring enough on the market to make their production profitable.

It is poor economy to crowd chicks in the brooder. Better chicks can be produced by placing 350 chicks under a 500-chick brooder than by filling it to capacity. Ease and comfort are essential to the development of the chicks into strong, healthy pullets which should begin their laying at the right time and continue through the fall and winter months when egg prices are high.

Before using a new masonry cistern the inside walls should be allowed to air and cure for a month or more. Sprinkle them occasionally with water to convert the free lime in the cement to carbonate of lime which is only slightly soluble in pure water. A new cistern should be pumped out two or three times before using the water for drinking.

Don't plant the entire supply of string beans, bush lima beans, sweet corn, lettuce, or radish at one time in the farm garden. Make successive plantings from 10 days to 3 weeks apart, so that fresh vegetables may be had throughout the season. For successive harvests of peas plant early, medium late, and late varieties, and plant all varieties early. Late plantings of peas give low yields.

The longer a broody hen is allowed to sit on the nest, the longer it takes to get her back into laying condition. As soon as a hen is seen to remain on the nest at night, she should be removed and put in a broody coop; that is, a coop with a slat bottom so that the air circulates underneath and tends to keep her from sitting. While confined in the coop she should be fed and watered regularly.

Guinea pigs are increasing in favor as pets, and also for exhibition and food purposes. These animals need about the same diet as rabbits, says the Biological Survey. Three things should be kept constantly in each hutch—a pan of water supplied fresh at least once a day, a piece of rock salt, and a pan of dry grain such as oats, bran, or chopped grain. Guinea pigs need a constant supply of hay and a daily feeding of green stuff. With plenty of green feed, guinea pigs drink little water, but it is well to supply it.

Many adult animals and fowls harbor various parasites and may not show serious effects. In early spring the young stock is making its start, and in many cases the young animals are injured severely. It is well to follow the systems of sanitation recommended by the Federal and State agricultural authorities. The general precaution is to keep all young livestock—lamb, calves, colts, etc.—in clean, safe, well-drained pastures, away from older animals other than their mothers, and away from areas that have been occupied by older animals the previous year.

Keep young chicks out of mischief and they won't be likely to develop bad habits, advises the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Regular feeding, watering, and attention will keep the chicks busy and prevent them from getting too hungry. If you supply green feeds between the regular grain feedings it gives them something to do. Keep the litter evenly distributed, as the chicks usually scratch it into bunches. Let the chicks get outdoors, the bad habit of toe picking often develops when they are too closely confined.

The value of good pasture for hogs cannot be overestimated. Rye, oats, wheat, rape, soybeans, and cowpeas all are good temporary pastures. Sweet clover and, in the South, Dallis grass also are satisfactory. Rape may be sown with oats in the spring. Cowpeas and soybeans make a good mixture. Seeding for temporary pastures should be heavier than for a grain crop. Many successful hog growers put a limited number of hogs on permanent pastures, and let the grass make sufficient growth to produce a crop of hay. Undoubtedly alfalfa is the best permanent pasture grass for hogs, and in localities where this crop is successful no other permanent pasture is necessary.

As a "sticker" in lead-arsenate sprays used to control the gipsy moth on shade or fruit trees, fish oil has been found to be very efficient. By using fish oil as an adhesive in lead-arsenate mixtures, the spraying season can be lengthened somewhat, as spraying can be started when the foliage is small and good results obtained, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Fish oil is added to spray mixtures at the rate of 4 ounces by weight, to each pound of lead-arsenate powder or insoluble matter used. Mixtures containing fish oil stick not only to the trees, but to the undergrowth and vegetation, and livestock should be kept away from trees that have been sprayed.

He was an artist of the impressionist school, and he had been known to set pictures, but it didn't happen often. He was carrying some of his work to an art dealer's, when he met a fellow artist. Suddenly he quickened his pace.

"What are you hurrying for?" asked his comrade.

"See that man over there?" was the reply.

"Yes, what of it?"

"Well, he is a creditor of mine. I like impressionistic art, he looks better from a distance."

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

THOUGH wet and dry figures are not included in the census, those supplied by the Literary Digest's national straw vote are being given out daily and are apparently significant enough to give the supporters of prohibition in its present form considerable concern. Dry leaders protest that this poll is unfair, and Senators Jones and Dill of Washington asserted in the senate that the ballots were sent mostly to men. Mr. Dill asked the Digest editor whether women were being discriminated against and was told that the ballots were sent to the same persons who got them in a Presidential election poll in 1928.

Because of the consideration of the tariff bill on the floor of the house of representatives, the judiciary committee's hearings on the Eighteenth amendment were suddenly halted. Dr. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, and four other dry leaders were permitted to insert their statements in the record, but the wet, much to their disgust, had no opportunity to cross-examine them. The keynote of all the statements was sounded by Doctor McBride in this sentence: "Prohibition at its worst, even in the worst cities and in the worst places within these cities, is better than the old-time licensed liquor traffic at its best."

Doctor McBride declared that the wets have failed to prove their major contentions—that the Eighteenth amendment fails to contribute most effectively toward the solution of the liquor problem; that the people are asking for repeal, and that they, the wets, have a constructive program upon which they can unite.

FOLLOWING several hours of discussion, the house by a vote of 421 to 153 approved of a special rule, to send the tariff bill to conference. The rule made no mention of the verbal understanding that before final action is taken by the conferees separate votes will be asked in the house on sugar, cement, lumber and shingles. The conferees appointed by Vice President Curtis and Speaker Longworth were the ranking members of the senate committee and of the house ways and means committee. They include none of the so-called radicals.

SENATOR NORRIS of Nebraska, sponsor of the pending resolution for government operation of the Muscle Shoals project, in a speech in the senate demanded that the American Farm Bureau federation repudiate Chester Gray, its Washington lobbyist, asserting that Gray had been exposed by the lobby-investigating committee as a traitor to the farmers' cause. The Nebraska senator reviewed Gray's co-operation with the Tennessee River Improvement association, a lobby in behalf of the canal-bid for Muscle Shoals, formerly headed by C. H. Houston, now Republican national committee chairman.

CONGRESSMAN SNELL'S resolution calling for the appointment of a joint congressional and executive commission to study the question of giving the President power to draft man power and capital in event of war was passed by the house without a record vote.

Approval of the measure after five hours of acrimonious debate was featured by a signal victory for labor interests opposed to the conscripting of workmen for industrial purposes in wartime. In its original form the Snell measure provided for a study of labor conscription as well as the drafting of industry and man power in event of war. So much opposition developed to the labor phase of the inquiry that an amendment was finally adopted stipulating that the commission "should not consider and should not report upon the advisability of conscripting labor."

OVER production of wheat in the Northwest may be checked if the farmers take kindly to the plan put forward by Chairman Lerge of the farm board at the suggestion of Dr. J. L. Coulter, chief economist of the tariff commission. The plan is for the farmers to exchange part of their seed wheat to the farm board for flax, barley, rye and oats for planting this year. Coulter, loaned to the farm board, started on a two-week tour of the wheat belt to try to put the scheme into effect. He hopes to cut the wheat acreage in Minnesota and the Dakotas by two million acres. It is forecast by the Millers' National federation that the United States' carry-over of the present crop into the new crop year on July 1 will be close to that of a year ago. The carry-over this year is estimated at 243,000,000 bushels, compared to 245,000,000 bushels on hand last July 1, the forecast states.

WHATEVER else comes out of the London naval conference, there is to be a three-power limitation agreement. It was officially announced at American delegation headquarters Thursday that the American, British and Japanese were in complete accord. The Americans and British, at a meeting with the Japanese at St. James' place, indicated acceptance of the Japanese reservations. The only points to be settled are details relating to Japanese reservations on the scrapping and replacing of ships in order to keep their dockyards working. It was said there would be no factor of difficulty in any of the Japanese reservations. The Mead-Matsudaira formula had previously been accepted by the Japanese government with four reservations which were considered merely technical.

With this high encouraging basis to go on, the delegates went ahead with their negotiations designed to satisfy the security pact demands of France in the hope that the French and Italians could be brought into accord with the other powers for the adoption of a five-power treaty. Italy was asked to join with Great Britain and France in a mutual security arrangement affecting the Mediterranean, and conversations were continued concerning how far the British should go in guaranteeing France against aggression. Prime Minister MacDonald has given parliament assurance that Great Britain will undertake no new military commitments, but it was hoped the French could be satisfied, nevertheless. The plenary session of the conference, scheduled for Friday, was indefinitely postponed so that Briand and Henderson might continue their search for a formula acceptable to both their governments, and also to Italy, which had not abandoned the demand for parity with France.

Nationalistic organizations of Japan staged a demonstration against the acceptance of the Mead-Matsudaira agreement, declaring it was a humiliating surrender of means of national defense in the face of American demands.

ONE of the minor worries of the government came to the front when it was found that Mrs. Anastasia Tchaltkovsky, who claims to be the youngest daughter of the slain Russian czar, Nicholas II, had overstayed the visitor's permit on which she was permitted to enter the country. The Immigration bureau could order her expulsion, but nothing further could be done about it, for there is no place to which she could be deported. There are already outstanding papers for the deportation of some 700 undesirable Russian natives, but since 1921 the Russian government has declined to receive any of them. They cannot be landed in other countries, so here they remain.

WILLIAM T. COSGROVE, whose resignation as president of the executive council of the Irish Free State parliament was forced by an adverse vote, was re-elected by the dail eireann by a vote of 80 to 65. Eamon de Valera and T. J. O'Connell were first proposed for the place and were defeated decisively after a long and bitter debate.

DR. OTTO BRUENING, the new chancellor of Germany, has formed a ministry which has a good chance to last for some time, although it includes no Socialists. A motion of no confidence in the cabinet, proposed by the Socialists and Communists, was defeated, 252 to 187, because the Nationalists, who hold the balance of power in the reichstag, refused to support it. If the government had fallen, Chancellor Bruening, with the consent of President von Hindenburg, would have dissolved the reichstag. He gained the friendship of the Nationalists by promising a generous farm relief program.

BY THE big majority of 530 to 35 the French chamber of deputies ratified the Young reparations plan and authorized President Doumergue to sign this final act for liquidation of the World War and for the evacuation of the Rhineland. The closing day of the debate was quiet, despite warnings of the Nationalists that withdrawal of French troops from the Rhineland would release another German invasion.

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor, told the senate interstate commerce committee that 3,700,000 wage earners were unemployed in February, losing a total of $400,000,000 in wages. The workless wage earners lost at least $1,000,000,000 in wages during the first three months of this year, he added.

"One billion dollars' worth of wealth," said Mr. Green, "created by our wage earners and spent for the products and the services of our industries in three months, would undoubtedly be more than sufficient to turn the tide of business from recession to advance."

Unemployment in the ranks of the federation has not fallen below 9 percent of the total membership in the last 27 months, according to Mr. Green.

Four million "rich peasants" in Russia face starvation, imprisonment or exile as the result of the communist policy of exterminating them. A "rich peasant" in Russia is one who has hired labor, conducts an industrial operation, rents machinery to neighbors, rents houses or rooms to others, leases land to others or has any outside income. Is it any wonder that so many of our political "liberals" are so enthusiastic about this sort of "new freedom"?

"Konjola Kept Me at Work All Day Every Day"

Rheumatism Caused This Man Terrible Agony—New Medicine Brings Speedy Relief.

MR. JAMES EATON

Don't get the idea that there is no relief from rheumatism, no matter what has failed. Put to the test Konjola, the new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs. Read, for instance, the words of Mr. James Eaton, 141 Walker street, Grand Rapids:

"Konjola put an end to rheumatism that for years caused me terrible agony, and that defied every other medicine I tried. Many a day I was unable to lie my bed, my joints were so stiff and sore. But three bottles of Konjola put all my pain to rout; corrected my kidneys and let me go to work all day every day. I endorse Konjola with all my heart and soul."

Thus Konjola works, quickly and thoroughly, going to the very source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Grayling, Michigan at the Mac & Gidley Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Since the failure of the London conference can't be blamed on the late Mr. Shear, it will have to be loaded on Uncle Sam for not sinking his navy and agreeing to fight whenever our European neighbors go to scrapping.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Burrows were called last Sunday to Dearborn owing to the serious illness of Mr. Burrows' mother. Upon receiving the message they left immediately but she had passed away before they arrived. The remains were sent to her old home at Cheboygan where funeral services were held on Wednesday morning. Mr. Burrows' mother had reached the ripe old age of 73.

In the letter written by James E. Richardson printed in last week's Advance, he stated, "Joseph Smith, 'The Prophet' and his brother were killed at Carthage, Mo." They were killed at Carthage, Mo. The true gospel was restored through Joseph Smith "The Prophet" instead of he being the founder of the Mormon or L.D.S. religion, as the letter states, according to a member of that organization.

Palm Sunday, which recalls the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem was celebrated at St. Mary's church Sunday with the blessing and distributing of the palms. It was the regular communion Sunday for the men and boys of the parish and in all there were 105 communicants. Next Sunday (Easter) a class of 22 children will receive their first holy communion. The children's choir which has recently been organized will sing several selections during the mass.

Gerrish township in Roscommon county gave seven majority to the proposal to consolidate the schools. That township, that completed the first step in the plans to consolidate the schools of the Village of Roscommon and the rural school of the township of Gerrish. If carried to completion the plans include the construction of a new modern school house in Roscommon for the benefit of the pupils of the entire township. It will mean better schools at no added cost.

George Granger accompanied by Ben Batchelor, who attend school at M. S. C. in Lansing, visited the former's mother, Mrs. Celia Granger and family Sunday. The boys recently had the misfortune to lose some of their personal belongings in a fire which occurred at a week ago last Tuesday in Lansing. There were twenty-nine boys rooming and boarding at the "frat" house, among them being George who roomed on the third floor of the building which was badly damaged. The boys were fortunate to escape injuries.

Northwestern High school of Detroit watched the progress of the debating team of Cheboygan High school and to note their success right up to the semi-finals. Last week they lost their first debate out of 18 contests to Northwestern High school of Detroit. Last year they won the state championship and came near to repeating this year. The team is made up of Keladen, Gaynor and Berry and was coached by Carl Titus of the High school faculty. They surely made a great showing and we are proud of them as representing the schools of Northern Michigan. Mr. Titus and these young men are deserving of a lot of credit for their success.

JUNIOR PROM FRIDAY MAY 2ND

Work on the annual Junior Prom goes steadily forward, with the class of '31 taking an even more active interest as the plans are brought to completion and the night of May second draws near.

Negotiations are still open for the orchestra and every effort is being made to secure the best band obtainable. The success of a party depends in a large measure upon the music and the Juniors have no desire for anything but the best. Present indications are that an orchestra from this University of Michigan will get the call. The Juniors will be certain of a peppy set of synchronizers if the services of this orchestra can be secured, for they have held sway at many parties on the University campus, where collegiate criticism is keen.

The class is not yet willing to announce the plans for decoration of the gym, even though the decision has been made on that particular point. It is understood that the total effect will be different and novel. At any rate, the Juniors are enthused about the prospects and doubtless will have something unique to display on the night of May second.

A set of invitations have been sent out for this party and those fortunate ones to receive them will do well to plan on attending, for this year's party promises to be the finest to be offered by any Junior class.

Rialto Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 20, 21 and 22

Old New York residents will recognize the pre-Volstead settings of "Anna Christie," the Greta Garbo starring vehicle now at prominent theatres. The realistic and architecturally correct Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer were tenacious in their adherence to strict fidelity in reproducing the waterfront of old New York and the beer gardens of Coney Island for this picture.

In reproducing this atmosphere, Cedric Gibbons, the art director, at the M-G-M studios, took no liberties with his motif. He built settings so realistic you almost smell the stale beer and hear the raucous jangle of the old Wurlitzer bands as you walk through them. There is all the hustle and bustle of the waterfront, all the cheap glamour of old Coney. You can even imagine without much effort that you will find the inevitable freight or garbage swirling about the wharf pilings as the tide ebbs.

The saloon set would bring tears to the eyes of seasoned salts who haunted the New York waterfront when a nickel bought a belly full of beer and food. There is the bar and brass rail, sanded floor and spittoon. Behind the bar are lined the big schooners which, by the way, were bought and shipped out to Hollywood from a second-hand shop on Second avenue—and the walls are plastered with gaudy lithographs of prize-fighters, buxom ladies in tight, racy dresses and marine calendars. Then there are swinging gas lamps, a nickel-in-the-slot mechanical piano, the free lunch counter, with its fly traps, swinging doors, salted peanut slot machines, bowls of pretzels and brine waters and a "ladies' entrance" leading to a backroom drinkery.

The waterfront exterior, built upon an expansive scale, shows the old barge tied up to a barge, with a back-grounded by a silhouette of derick booms, gas tanks and warehouses. The barge, creaky and warped; chafes against the dock, its fenders sparingly fashioned from old hemp, twisted underclothes and barrel hoops. As it lurches with the sluggish swell, the barge rises and dips into inky black river water while mirrors the twinkling lights from shipping and shore illumination that stabs through the blanket of fog shrouding the set. On the forward deck of the barge is the hand captain, a bench, a washbowl and two bollards about which the hawseers are hitched in haphazard seamen's knots. A battered oil lamp dangles in the doorway leading to the inner compartments. Here is to be found a main cabin, oilcloth table, cold stove, gripped to the deck by iron straps, a spindly chair or two and a cylinder-record gramophone. Beyond is a tiny sleeping cabin, a boarded bunk built into its side.

From the barge deck a timber gangway leads to the cobblestoned street. Across the way is the saloon of Johnny the Priest and just overhead the Travelers' Hotel. The lights of the Seamen's Institute may be seen just over the chimneys and the waterfront, horse-drawn trolley car clings a warning as it lopes on its way through the night. In building this setting special provisions were made for the pictorial fog effects which add immeasurably to its effectiveness in photographic and sound reproduction.

HARMFUL USE OF CIGARETTES PROVED TO STUDENTS OF GRAYLING HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Bernard Coggan, business manager of Michigan Council of Religious Education, gave a very clever demonstration in the High School auditorium Friday afternoon proving to the students that cigarettes are harmful.

Mr. Coggan is touring the high schools of the surrounding counties in the interest of the narcotic laws, particularly the law pertaining to the use of cigarettes by minors. His lecture and demonstration have been given before fifty high schools since the first of the year. The Dr. Strohm cigarette device was used with each demonstration. The device extracts from the cigarette fumes several drops of liquid, the analysis of which gives according to the record of the United States dispensary, the effects of each of the elements upon various organs of the body.

A pot luck supper was given at the Michelson Memorial church Friday night, at which a number of men and women gathered to hear Mr. Coggan speak. Those who attended report a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. Coggan left Friday night for Lansing where the headquarters of the Michigan Council is located.

Our idea of a solution of the Haytian question is to withdraw all American marines and officials from the island, let the butchering start again, and compel all the folks who have been yelling against American "interference" to spend their vacations there.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote: "My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Mac & Gidley or any live drugstore anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.
